

PERIMETER AND PRESSING FOULS

RULE 21.8

To hold or sink the attacking player with two hands is an exclusion foul. Restricting the movement by holding is not allowed, and must be punished with an exclusion foul.

Referees should pay attention not to allow for the defending team to play pressing as a tactic to kill any action.

Referees must protect active play, not to award passive play.

Also, Referees are NOT to tolerate from attacking players fouls of simulating performance, as in simulating a foul or the taking a free throw...

Head under the water is not necessary an ordinary foul. Simulation is a foul!!!

When it comes to simulation, provocation and reaction we must apply instructions about the use of yellow and red cards.
